ROANOKE, VA., APRIL 24, 1892.

COMMERCIAL ASSOCIATION. OPEN FOR MEMBERS AND VISITORS FROM 9 a. m. until 10:30 p. m. Leading daily newspapers and magazines on file. Weekly meetings for papers and discussion every Monday night at 8 p. m. at the Exchange Building, Jefferson street and Salem avenue.

THAT EXPOSITION. Public sentiment is solidifying in favor of a big exposition to celebrate Roanoke's tenth anniversary. The time is short and we must get to work. The magnificent possibilities of the scheme will all be developed during the coming week. A meeting will be held Tuesday evening at the courthouse to discuss the matter more fully.

It is going to cost money to do it right, but for every dollar expended five will be returned to Roanoke in immediate benefits. There are 200,000 people in Southwest Virginia who are deeply and closely interested in Roanoke's prosperity. These are the people who will be the main support of the proposed exposition. No inconsiderable portion of them will find a way to attend the exposition.

The first need is for the people of Roanoke to thoroughly realize what a first-class exposition will do for Roanoke. In a sentence, it will start a legitimate business boom unparalleled in the history of the city. Now absorb that idea and work out its details to your own satisfaction.

Are you ready to co-operate, good reader? Then get in line and lift the idea along when the word is given.

ROANOKE'S new circuit court has been established, and now draws near the end of its first term. It is accomplishing the purpose for which it was created.

Now, why cannot the bar of Roanoke form into an association and begin work at once for the Federal court? It is of great importance that the movement should be got under headway at once.

EX SENATOR BLAIR, of New Hampshire, is still trumpeting about the Chinese mission which he couldn't fill. The distinguished statesman still toots his own horn, but as usual it is all blare.

AFTER July 1 the government will weigh whiskey instead of gauging it, but it must not be inferred that whiskey will be given away.

THERE is a disposition among Western Democrats to cail on Mr. Cleveland's advocates for proof that he can carry New York.

SENATOR HILL may not get the Presidential nomination, but he is getting everything he tries for up to date.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT.

The Docket for the Remainder of the April Term.

The trial of the case of Daniel Palmer vs. the Roanoke Machine Works occupied the attention of Judge Dupuy in the circuit court yesterday. All the testimony has been given in, the argument concluded and the case given to the jury. The court adjourned until Monday at 10 o'clock.

The docket for the remainder of the April term is as follows:

Christian & Barbee vs. J. T. Hills, administrator; Hartford Silver Plate Company vs. M. Harrison; R. W. Davis vs. Midway Iron Company; W. Scott Corbett vs. G. A. Rhodes; Jennie Duncan vs. C. E. and M. E. Pabst; Roanoke Banking and Iron Company vs. Elevated Plateau Land Company et al.; Lyon, Conklin & Co. vs. J. F. Christian; Vogts, Quast & Co. vs. Lewis Perry; Chas. F. Taylor & Co. vs. S. Levine; Frederick Long vs. F. W. Craig; Antietam Paper Co. vs. Herald Publishing Co.; George F. Dalton vs. John A. Plumley.

A decision will probably be rendered in the Palmer case Monday morning, and the remainder of the docket completed within the week.

A Local Board Organized.

The Southern Mutual Building and Loan Association, of Atlanta, Ga., established a local board in this city yesterday. A meeting of shareholders was held in the law office of Rush U. Derry. The following officers were elected: President, M. H. Earman; vice-president, William P. Huff; attorney, Rush U. Derry; secretary and treasurer, James T. Hinton. Directors: M. H. Earman, Wm. P. Huff, W. H. Strickler, Prof. J. P. Maury, Prof. H. Shaffer, Roller. Appraisers: W. H. Strickler, M. H. Earman, Wm. P. Huff; local agent, James T. Hinton.

Pay Day in the Yards.

The Norfolk and Western pay car was a popular attraction at the yards yesterday. For several hours it was surrounded by employes, who received their wages and retired with smiling faces. Last night they were busy settling with merchants, etc.

If your watch wants repairing take it to E. H. Harger, at M. L. Smith's.

OUR SUNDAY COLUMN.

Original and Otherwise—Prepared by Mark.

No. 16.

A score of persons have made inquiry as to the identity of the young man referred to by Mark in last Sunday's Times. And some, like the frightened Disciples when the Master said, "One of you shall betray me," have asked, "is it I?" "Did Mark mean me?" That depends. It would be both unwise and unkind in me to reveal the identity of the young man. I shall not do so. I will state, however, that my warning has done some good. I have seen him several times during the past week, and he looks better, feels better and smells sweeter. Oh! how this bad whiskey works up, or, rather, works down, a young man. Young men of Roanoke, let me beg you to ponder the fact that you are fast advancing to fill the places of those who are fast retiring to give place to a new generation. The various departments of business and trust, the pulpit and the bar, our courts of justice and halls of legislature are all soon to be in your hands and under your control. To all our institutions and blessings, to all our privileges and hopes, you are the natural heirs; and now the country wants to know how you are qualifying yourselves for these responsibilities. Suffer me to say that you will never be trustful guardians, nor safe defenders of the priceless heritage, soon to be committed to your keeping, if you indulge a habit, or tamper with a vice that impairs the whole mental, physical and moral man.

O, resolve now that you will be free. Rise even to the height of noble, hopeful, dignified manhood, true patriotism and moral worth. Give that heart a chance to develop its graces. Give that intellect an opportunity to expand its powers. Dash the goblet from your lips, and quit the saloon and gambling rooms forever, and then will you be hopefully and cheerfully welcomed to the responsible positions that await you in church and state and will be entrusted with all that ennoble a commonwealth, elevates a nation, benefits a society and goes to make life useful and happy.

Then will you be entrusted with our daughters without the fears and tears that fill the heart and blind the eye of parents when their daughters leave home with men who drink.

Some years ago I was present at a marriage. In the parlor a young and blooming bride stood at the altar with a handsome young man. In an adjoining room father and mother were bowed in grief. I soon ascertained the cause. The bride was an only daughter and was the heart's idol of the parents. The groom was a young man of excellent family, but was dissipated. The young lady had not influenced him to give up his cups before marriage, and the after hope was vain. Such scenes make weddings sometimes sadder than funerals.

These the married life is a living death.

An Irishman, on one occasion, went out to shoot birds, and seeing a blue jay he blazed away at the harmless little warbler. He went to the tree, and looking on the ground for his game, he espied a frog. Holding up the frog he exclaimed, "Be jabbers! what a pretty thing ye was before I shot the feathers off of ye." I have seen young ladies at the marriage altar whose beauty of person and grace and charms of mind and heart rendered them lovely and lovable; pleasurable anticipations beaming in the hopeful expression; health's carnation mantling cheeks unblanched as yet by a single sorrow—young ladies whose fond parents had made their past life happy by gentle words and caressing affection,—I have seen young ladies thus happy

Mr. S. G. Derry
Of Providence, R. I.,

Widely known as proprietor of Derry's Water-proof Harness Oil, test below of his terrible sufferings from Eczema and his cure by

HOOD'S Sarsaparilla

"Gentlemen: Fifteen years ago I had an attack of inflammatory rheumatism, which was followed by eczema or salt humor, breaking out on my right leg. The humor spread all over my legs, back and arms,

A foul Mass of Sores, swollen and itching terribly, causing intense pain if the skin was broken by scratching, and discharging constantly. It is impossible to describe my suffering in those years of agony and torture. I spent in futile efforts to get well, and was discouraged and ready to die. At this time I was unable to lie down in bed, had to sit up all the time, and was unable to walk without crutches. I had to hold my arms away from my body, and had to have my arms, back and legs bandaged by my faithful wife twice a day.

Finally a friend who was visiting at our house, urged me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. I began by taking half a teaspoonful. My

Stomach Was All Out of Order

But the medicine soon corrected this, and in six weeks I could see a change in the condition of the humor which nearly covered my body. It was driven to the surface by the Sarsaparilla, the sores soon healed, and the scales fell off. I was soon able to give up bandages and crutches, and a happy man I was.

I had been taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for seven months; and since that time, nearly two years, I have worn no bandages whatever and my legs and arms are sound and well.

The Delight

of myself and wife at my recovery it is impossible to tell. To all my business friends in Boston and over the country, I recommend from personal experience." S. G. DERRY, 45 Bradford street, Providence, R. I.

If you are Bilious, take Hood's Pills.

and hopeful, bow at Hymen's shrine with young men who promised to be kind, affectionate and faithful husbands; but alas, the habit of drink enslaved them, and changed their natures, plighted love died in the heart, happiness departed, hope expired, and in a little while the change in the appearance of the late lovely, happy and hopeful bride is as great, and far more real, than the change discovered in the supposed shorn plumage of the beautiful bird. The feathers of beauty have been shot off by neglect. Harsh words and cruel treatment have crushed the spirit and instead of beauty, for ashes there are ashes for beauty, joy turned into mourning, hopes dashed, fond anticipations blighted, and whiskey did it all. No, young man, you are not worthy of the fair, virtuous and beautiful ladies of our land unless you are anti-saloon and love your brother and wife more than you love the bottle. In a later letter I want to say something to the young ladies of Roanoke about woman's influence over young men, and ask them if they are utilizing this powerful and God given influence for good in behalf of our noble young men. Oh, young ladies and rosy lasses, rise to the emergency. Be equal to the emergency. You can if you will. Save your brothers and lovers from the drunkard's grave and the drunkard's hell. May the Lord give the exorcise board in our city judgment and nerve to say "no," and forever "no" to all future applications of men to procure their sanction to establish and open any more Pandora boxes in Roanoke. MARK.

The railroad men will hold a promise and song service this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Trinity Church. Everybody is cordially invited.

Who Will Best Fill the Office as Mayor of Roanoke?

THAT man who has during the past ten years' residence in Roanoke proven his ability to successfully manage his own affairs, and by the strictest conservative action and the exercise of excellent judgment has established the leading banking house here, and as its president for the past ten years its value has doubled through his untiring energy and watchfulness, and as a trustee for the widow and the fatherless, his integrity and excellent judgment has raised those of his especial care from humble circumstances to affluence.

Such is the man the citizens of Roanoke now require to take the highest seat in its affairs, to watch over all its interests and direct all movements of its government in the future.

Happily that man is found in Mr. Henry Trout, Roanoke's well known leading financier. He has been twice honored with a seat in our State legislature, and is a man devoted to all that is for Roanoke's best interest.

In a pecuniary sense the office has no attraction for Mr. Trout, but the pride of directing the affairs of a city founded upon the spot of his rustic rambles in boyhood, to guard its interests, by placing at its command that ability and integrity that is now well known to be his qualifications, and it alone gains his consent.

It is a pity to find that the custom here is to call upon a party expression of opinion in selecting city officers, and especially the mayor. The duties of the office are for all citizens, and we should place Mr. Trout in office as our mayor by the voice of the people of Roanoke. Our interest will be safer in the trust of Mr. Henry Trout than any other citizen known to me.

"ELECTOR."

IT IS A FACT

Beyond question that the line of DRESS GOODS, In silk, woolen and cotton, to be seen at our store, is the prettiest, cheapest and most

FRANK BROTHERS.

The Oldest Clothing Firm in the City of Roanoke.

EVERYBODY in Roanoke and surrounding country knows Joe Frank, the senior member of the popular clothing firm of Frank Brothers, the oldest in the city, and that their place of business is in Wright's block, on Jefferson street, where they carry a large stock of gents' and boys' clothing, hats and caps, furnishing goods, etc.

The large and exceedingly pretty stock now displayed and offered at low prices was selected in person by Joe Frank, and reflects the highest credit upon his taste and the wants of his friends and customers. He invites the people to call and examine his goods, confident that he can suit them in quality and price. See advertisement in another column.

Thomas Nelson Page.

Roanoke is promised a treat on Thursday evening, when Thomas Nelson Page will give one of his inimitable readings at the Opera House for the benefit of the hospital and the Christian Church. Mr. Page is in the front rank of Virginia's new literary stars, a galaxy which may well contest for the palm of originality, fertility of field and charm of quality. He combines facility of production with that heightened charm of delivery which attaches to a sympathetic voice and manner. "Marse Chan" and "Unc' Eliab's Rowdiness" are life itself. Reserved seats at Johnson & Johnson's.
